GENERAL INFORMATION

Call Central by giving two rings.

Look up the Number before calling Central.

Call by Number and call the figures separate.

Do not call by name if you want quick service. Telephone operators cannot remember the correct telephone number of all our subscribers.

Operators are instructed to ring your call once; if you do not answer, they will ring again; then if you do not answer, the party calling will be so informed.

When called answer promptly. Your correspondent is waiting to talk to you even before your bell rings.

If you are on a party line and you wish to talk to a subscriber on the same line, ring him yourself. You will thus save the time usually taken to call Central. See explanation of signals for ringing on party lines.

LONG DISTANCE

RATES GIVEN ON APPLICATION

If you wish to use the long distance telephone, ring Central in the usual way and ask for the long distance operator. You will then be switched to the long distance switchboard and the long distance operator will answer you by saying "long distance." Tell her your name promptly and the number of the telephone you are talking from, the name and address, and if possible, the telephone number of the individual you wish to talk to.

(NOTE.—If you call for a firm or company and get the office boy, and then ask him to call a certain person to the telephone, you will be charged for the full time you hold the line.)

Long Distance switches must be paid by the party who makes the call, and the subscriber whose telephone the call is made is held responsible for the full amount, except when you inform the long distance operator in advance that you wish the call to go through "collect." The company will not long distance switches "collect" providing you are requested to do so before the conversation takes place and the consent of the party who is to pay for it is first obtained.

Charges for appointments and uncompleted switches must be paid for. When no conversation takes place and you are given information as may be obtained, such as "your party is out of town" or "is sick and cannot come to telephone" or "is out and is expected to return" or "has left for another town" etc. The rate is 25 to 50 cents. This charge will be retained by the company, but if the conversation takes place within twenty-four hours after the first call, the amount will be applied in payment for the switch.

Messenger service is always charged extra.
